CZAR'S CORONATION IN MINIATURE FORM

Russian Minister Will Give a Magnificent Moonlight Fete.

Washington Golf Ladies Will Begin Play Today-Minstrel Performance for Battle Abbey.

"Just in the dull season, too- what fun!" Society is fairly beaming with delight, and the general voice thrills with tones of pleasure. The cause of so much gay ancipation is the appoundement of a gorgeous function soon to take place, which for ovelty and elegance will surpass any affair f the sort ever known here.

The Russian minister, Mr. Kotzebue, is arranging to give a magnificent moonlight fete in honor of the coronation of the czar, May 25. It will be an out-of-door affair with music and a gergeous display of fire-works. A feast characteristic of the ban-quets of the empire of the two continents will be apread, where the guests will en-joy more of the wonderful good things which many of them tasted for the first time at Easter-tide.

time at Easter-tide.

It is expected that Mme. Kotzebue will arrive in this country and be present at this unique demonstration of loyalty. A wish has been expressed that it be made a fracy costume event, but this suggestion has not been seriously considered. The invitation list is now being compiled by the minister, assisted by a number of smart women, who lead the social way, and will in tude many hundred guests. u lude many hundred guests.

Senor Louis Felipe Carbo, minister of Ecuador, received yesterday from New York an excellent portrait of himself. It is the gift of his friend, Senor Vaiverde, vice consul of Ecuador at New York, and is tonsul of Echador at New York, and is handsomely framed in gold.

The work is quite artistic and a fine likeness of Senor Carbo, who is a man of excellent appearance, and although at the Capital only a short time is already a great favorite in Washington.

The rumor of the engagement of a cer-tain charming young woman of the diplo-matic set, and an interesting and talented man well-known here, is the subject of much pleasant conjecture.

The entertainment for a Battle Abbey fund, which was to have taken prace yes fund, which was to have taken piace yes-terday afternoon, has been postponed until next Tuesday afternoon and evening and Wednesday. The program has been materially changed. The resitval, which will take place from 12 to 3 o'clock on Tuesday and Wednesday next at the Wash-ington Light Infantry Hall, will be a luncheon. Strawberries and cream, tea-cake, ices and lemonade will be served. On Wednesday evening twenty prominent ociety women will give a minstrel performance. The performers will wear wigs, but to text complexions and coats and skirts or black satur, and white shirts, waist-coats and diamond plus. The idea has been successfully carried out in New York, St. Louis and other large edies, a large sum being realized on each occasion. The minstrel "show" will give the usual vocal, instrumental and locular performance, including "banjo and de boues," It will take place Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. ormance. The performers will wear wigs.

The ladies of the Washington Golf Club will begin play today at the links hear Rosslyn. The tournament will begin at 10 30 o'chek promptly and Mr. Edward F. Riggs, secretary of the club, will act as referee. Three days will decide the name of the fortunate winner of the silver loving one offered as the prize. cup offered as the prize

BON MARCHE, 314-316 7th St.

BOTH CHEAP AND CHARMING.

A CHARMING and remarkable series of ladies luncheons have been given this spring by a novelty diving woman who is as well rather poorly off for extra dimes and dollars with which to shine among her rich and fashionable friends among her rich and fashionable friends, yet she is an inveterately hospitabla soul, and a housekeeper of the first water. Taking all these drawbacks and inducements into consideration, she invited ten congenial feminine souls to luncheon. The congenial feminine souls to luncheon. The table was daintily laid as to silver, china, glass and napery, but the food was a wonder. There were six courses in all, with the requisite hors d'oeuvres and relishes, but at every plate lay a prettily decorated menu card showing, in an itemized list, exactly what the hostess bad spent in providing for every plate. Mrs. Goldband's cyes fairly goggled to see that she was lunching off 9 cents' worth of oysters, 16 cents' worth of lobster, 2 cents' worth of bread, 1-2 cents' worth of pepper, 2 cents' worth of butter and so on down the list, and that, when every atom and incents' worth of butter and so on down the list, and that, when every atom and ingredient was carefully accounted for, her delicious meal had cost, all told, but 60 cents. Her admiration, envy and amazement at this culinary achievement were shared by the nine other equally rich guests; and if imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, then this little hostess has been a well-complimented woman. Not only all her personal friends, but the smartest women in town are giving what they call an her personal friends, but the smartest women in town are giving what they call "marked down" luncheous—feasts that cost per plate ever and ever so much less than ordinarily. Some of the housekeepers have contrived to get up an elegant little ban-quet for 10 cents less than the first woman managed; and Mrs. Goldbonds says the proudest moment of her social career was the day she received in the product of the conprondest moment of her social career was the day she regally lunced twelve friends at 40 cents per plate. It's true it took her nearly a week to study recipes and market prices of meat, vegetables, etc.; but then it's the trying to work out a puzzle that supplies the chief fun in the eutertaining, and incidentally it is teaching the wealthy women a good deal they didn't know of plain, valuable domestic economy.—Democret's Magazine.

WHEN MEN ARE THOUGHTLESS.

E DWARD W. BOK writes upon "When Men Are Thoughtless," in May Ladies' Home Journal, directing attention to "the singular fact that the American man, who is the best and most thoughtful husband in the world, should yet be peculiarly thoughtless as to the future of his wife or children in the event of his death."

Mr. Bok forcibly contends that the husband should have his affairs in such condition that in the event of death coming to him his wife and children, or those dependent, were him wifer. dependent upon him, would not suffer. In this connection he says: "I firmly believe that it is the duty of every man to be insured. With insurance policies to be had at such low rates as is at present the case, there is scarcely a man who cannot afford some sort of a policy, no matter how small the amount it may call for. What seems to the man, himself in good health, as a small amount for an insurance policy, often turns out to be a modest fortune to often turns out to be a modest fortune to the woman or children who survive him. "I wish, sometimes, that the taking out of an insurance policy, on the part of the husband, for an amount according to his means, might be made an obligatory part of every marriage ceremony. I know where of everymarriage ceremony. I know where-of I speak, when I say that there are hun-dres of women in the homes of this land who are daily carrying with them the fear that their husbands or fathers are neglect-ing or forgetting to make suitable provision for them as widows or orphans. They shrink from speaking to the men of their homes about the matter. No man can afford to neglect a simple duty which may mean all the difference between happiness and misery to his family. Suitable provision for them he cannot allow himself to "put off," for surely it is true that in the midst of life we are in death." Washingtonians in New York. (Special to The Times.)

WHERE SHE IS AT HOME.

THE vivacious, genial woman, who is never so much at home as when sur-rounded by a bevy of eager-minded children, is a women who remains young in the important sense that she retains much of the freshness and unconventionality of niud, much of the galety and expansive ness of early life.

Conversely, one may feel pretty sure that a woman who retains a vivid memory of her childsh ideas and feelings will be drawn to the championship of children. After reading their autobiographies, one hardly needs to be told that Goethe carried into old age his quick responsiveness to the galety of the young heart, and that George Sand, in her later years, was never so happy as when gathering the youngsters
